

Sedalian Dies In Iowa Wreck

Edward Kuhr, 28, Killed Instantly In Collision

Edward Kuhr, 28, 201 East Broadway, Sedalia, was killed instantly at 10 a. m. Thursday in a head-on car-truck collision near Lucas, Iowa—less than 36 hours after his wife had given birth to a daughter at Bothwell Hospital.

The accident claimed two lives. The second victim was Earl Railsback, Osceola, Iowa, who died approximately 30 or 40 minutes after the accident occurred.

Ground Fire That Hit Jet Is Questioned

Pilot Says Planes Not Close Enough To Communist Line

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A U. S. Air Force pilot said today he did not know whether ground fire that hit a F-86 jet near the demilitarized zone came from Communist or friendly territory.

Lt. Ronald E. Martin of Rock Hill, Mo., said to his knowledge neither plane was close enough to be hit by Communist fire.

An official Air Force release said Communist fire hit the plane. However, no protest has been made to the Communists.

Martin told a news conference he and the other pilot, who has not been identified, were flying a training mission and were heading for the second of two targets.

"Upon reaching it we encountered ground fire," he said. "At approximately the same time I noticed my lead aircraft burst in flame—temporarily. It continued down and I allowed it to slide and saw it crash on the side of a ridge."

The 25-year-old pilot said he glimpsed a parachute drifting down on the Communist side of the demilitarized zone. He returned to his base at Osan.

Martin said he and the other pilot were flying close to their second target but he declined on security grounds to answer questions about altitude, how far he thought they were from the demilitarized zone and what kind of ground fire they encountered.

He said he could not be sure of everything because "things happened so fast in a matter of a few minutes."

South Korean troops man positions in the sector where the incident occurred.

The U. N. Command continued its investigation. A spokesman said the command had no information on the exact position of the two F-86 Sabre jets when the incident occurred. Search planes that flew over the area found no trace of the missing pilot.

The U. N. Command is expected to request his return.

Bricklayers to Keep Present Wage Scale

Bricklayers Union Local 24, voted Thursday night to continue the present wage rate of $3.50 an hour. It was explained that the Sedalia rate is the same as other comparable cities in Missouri and considerably less than Kansas City or St. Louis. The jurisdiction of the Sedalia Local extends approximately 30 miles east and west and 50 miles north and south from Sedalia.

The Bricklayers International Union in cooperation with the American Association of Architects, Associated General Contractors and Structural Clay Products Association, have prepared a film strip entitled "A Citizens Planning Guide to Low Cost School Construction". It was voted to secure this film and make it available to local groups.

The following officers were installed: Harold Vogel, president; R. W. Hall vice president; James Doty secretary and business agent; C. W. Thoma, sergeant at arms; Ward Wade deputy and Joe Wood, alternate deputy.

Wage Settlement Ends Public Service Strike

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Settlement of a wage dispute yesterday ended a four-month state seizure of the Kansas City Public Service Co.

Gov. James T. Blair ordered the seizure when the transit company's bus drivers threatened to strike so there was no interruption of service.

The company and the union signed a two-year contract calling for a total increase of 15 cents an hour. Four cents will be retroactive to last Nov. 1; an additional five cents becomes effective May 1, and a third hike of six cents Nov. 1.

GOP Rally Monday Night

Haller Declares He's In Race 'All the Way'

Aaron W. Haller, Republican candidate for mayor, served notice today that he will make a fighting campaign.

"Contrary to talk being heard to the effect that I plan to withdraw close to election time," he said, "let me make it clear, once and for all, that I am going to stay in this contest all the way. There will be no withdrawal. I will remain the Republican candidate for mayor and I intend to win."

Haller will be the principal speaker at the first Republican rally of the campaign to be conducted Monday evening at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The program will be preceded by a chili supper, tickets to which are now being sold by precinct committeemen and committee women and other Republican Party leaders. The rally will be presided over by George Dugan, Sr., who has been appointed campaign manager.

The candidates for mayor, Haller, chief of police, Ralph Hamlin, and aldermen, Paul Hausman, Leroy Iuchs, Harold Vogel and Clyde Swafford, will be on hand to present the Republican platform and to answer questions by anyone. The meeting is open to the public.

Haller, heading the ticket, has been a resident of Sedalia since 1940. He has been owner and operator of the Haller Office Equipment Co. since 1946, is 40 years old and owner of a residence at 2303 West 11th. He is a combat veteran of the Air Force, serving in the European Theater during World War II.

He is a past president of the Sedalia Lion's Club, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, served as a Sedalia Park Board member for two years, a member of the First Christian Church, a past president of the Church School Class, and a deacon and a member of the stewardship committee of the First Christian Church.

He is now serving on the Community Chest board, is chairman of the Sedalia Churchmen's Group (Interdenominational Fellowship) and president of the Sedalia chapter of United Cerebral Palsy.

On Hijacked Plane

Pilot Says His Compartment 'Filled With Flying Bullets'

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The pilot's compartment was "filled with flying bullets" when Korean Communists seized their airliner, the American pilots related today.

"But everything happened so fast I was completely helpless," Willis P. Hobbs of Vallejo, Calif., a civilian, told a news conference.

The Red agents grabbed the airliner flown by Hobbs and Air Force Lt. Col. Howard W. McClellan of Buchanan, Mich., on Feb. 16 and diverted it to North Korea off its regular flight from Pusan to Seoul. The Reds Thursday released the two Americans, a West German couple and 22 of the 30 Koreans aboard.

McClellan, in a statement to military investigators, said the plane was on automatic pilot when he heard a loud banging on the door leading from the passenger's compartment.

Then bullets began flying through the cockpit, McClellan said in his statement. Hobbs reported hearing 8 to 10 shots as the two hugged the sides of the plane to get out of the line of fire. "I grabbed the mike, planning to give a 'May Day' (emergency distress) call as the cockpit was literally filled with flying bullets," McClellan said.

Hobbs yelled that the plane was still on automatic pilot so "I leaned across the floor into the path of the flying bullets and turned it off," the officer said. Then, said Hobbs, three armed Koreans broke into the compartment. One told him, "We go to North Korea."

McClellan said one Korean pulled out the microphone cords. Hobbs said one of the intruders stood behind "with a gun pointed right at my head."

The Koreans looked like they were determined to succeed in taking the plane or die in the attempt, McClellan said.

The agents were uncertain where to land when they were over North Korea. They finally asked Hobbs if planes on a field 15 miles north of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, were U. S. Air Force planes. Hobbs said they were Russian.

The agent pointed the gun at his head and said: "If U. S. Air Force—bang!"

The plane's occupants were taken to Pyongyang where Hobbs and McClellan were questioned for more than two days. Hobbs said he was asked general questions. But he said McClellan, who was wearing his U. S. Air Force uniform, appeared to have undergone more severe interrogation and seemed "quite shaken up."

"The ordeal was the most trying I have ever undergone in my life," McClellan said. They were held under house arrest but their armed guards kept out of sight. After the first week the prisoners were taken on guided tours of factories, to Soviet and Korean propaganda movies and to a Chinese concert.

In 18 days they had three baths. The two Americans and the German businessman shared one razor blade.

On Wednesday more than 25 Communist reporters met them at a news conference. Then they were given a three-hour farewell party before boarding a train for Pannunjom.

Radio Says China's Atomic Reactor Ready

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China's first 7,000-kilowatt atomic reactor and a 25-million-volt cyclotron are "basically complete," Radio Peiping said today.

The broadcast said the atomic reactor, of the heavy water type, is "the biggest in Asia." It added both projects were built with Soviet assistance.

Pricing Activities Attacked

Ice Cream Business Suffers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Wichita ice cream dealer told the House Small Business subcommittee in Kansas City today that his business is suffering as a result of pricing activities by the National Dairy Products Corp.

The witness, George Armstrong, told the committee it is a mystery why the corporation "would sell ice cream so much cheaper unless it is to force out competition."

He explained the Sealtest company is a subsidiary of National Dairy in this area.

In October, 1956, Armstrong testified, Sealtest raised the price on ice cream to $1.65 a gallon which was justified by increased costs.

However, in January, 1957, he said, the rate was cut back to "a ruinous price" of $1.40 a gallon. He said this move affected western Missouri and most of Kansas. He said that when he inquired of officials why it was done, "no one could give me a reason."

Yesterday small dairymen in Missouri and Kansas in two separate hearings attacked the milk price policies of the Adams Dairy Co., of Blue Springs, Mo.

On the other hand, Adams officials said they were trying to break down local monopolies that had kept milk prices too high.

Adams sells only to stores. Howard Adams, vice president, told the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee in Washington yesterday his firm wants "as much spread as we can get" between store and home delivery prices.

Adams asserted the Kansas City milk market was "rigged and we tried to unrig it."

He also said a local monopoly existed in Columbia, Mo., and his firm "didn't intend to pad our

Bolivian President Withdraws Resignation

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—President Hernan Siles Zuazo has withdrawn his resignation at the urging of 13 unions. Congress had not acted on it.

The President sent Congress his resignation earlier this week because labor groups headed by Juan Lechin objected to an austerity program designed by U. S. experts to bolster Bolivia's economy.

The 13 pro-Siles Zuazo unions struck yesterday, tying up transportation in La Paz, and said they would stay out until the President withdrew his resignation.

Mitchell Says Unemployed Peak Reached

February Figures Show 5-Million Are Without Jobs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell estimates that the number of unemployed in the nation increased by 500,000 during February.

However, Mitchell, like other administration officials, said yesterday he believes the unemployment peak was reached in February and that there will be a significant decrease in the number of jobless this month.

The labor secretary told newsmen that figures for February would show that slightly more than five million workers were without jobs during the month. He said official figures on unemployment for February will be available next Monday or Tuesday.

Approximately 4½ million workers were unemployed in January. Mitchell described the February unemployment as "far above normal" and "higher than we anticipated" but he added: "I think the situation is something to be concerned — but not alarmed — about."

He refused to give exact prediction on March employment.

After giving a general estimate of February, he was asked for comment on a published report that February unemployment reached 5½ million.

"I don't think it will be that high," he said.

He said a decrease in unemployment in March "is the normal pattern. We ordinarily reach a peak in unemployment in February and I believe the change in March this year will be significant."

"I think we can reasonably expect an upturn in business by midsummer, and I believe this will be evident in March and April. Without trying to minimize the situation, I would say that things are not too bad. This is a cyclic adjustment and economists tell me that it has the earmarks of the 1949-50 and the 1953-54 recessions."

He indicated that April would be the month of decision for the administration.

"We will have the figures for March unemployment and there will be other factors which should indicate whether additional steps are necessary to end the recession," the labor secretary said.

He added that he would favor an immediate cut in both personal and business taxes if there are indications unemployment will be prolonged.

Economy Upturn Predicted

Mitchell Says Sound Business Will Recover

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An upturn in the general economic picture by midsummer because "we have got a basically sound economy," was predicted today by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

He made his prediction during a question and answer meeting with 40 labor leaders.

"If I were going to make a speech on this I wouldn't make a 'chins-up' nor 'going to hell in a basket' speech," he said. "And that's what you are getting on both sides."

He referred to political speeches by both parties.

He said the current business downturn has all the earmarks of the recessions of 1949, 1953 and 1954. The economy recovered after those setbacks.

"I'm very hopeful that, because we've got a basically sound economy, by midsummer you'll see an upturn in the general economic picture," he said. "That is assuming that people look upon what is, or what I think, is a temporary recession."

He added late March, April and May should see a down turn in unemployment and a pickup in employment.

In reply to a question he said the federal government "is prepared to do whatever is necessary to prevent any long-term, full-scale unemployment."

He said labor must insure that enough restraint is exercised by both labor and management so as not to price a particular industry out of the market and to prevent growth.

Fourth Bulganin Message Makes No New Proposal

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Bulganin, in a fourth message to President Eisenhower, released here today, appealed again for an East-West summit conference but made no major new proposals to break the deadlock.

The message was delivered in Washington Thursday as the U. S. State Department published a note rejecting Soviet terms for a preparatory foreign ministers' conference.

The Soviet Union had proposed that such a conference be limited to the mechanical details of arranging summit talks. The United States, in common with its Western Allies, insists that preparatory talks must disclose real possibility for some agreements before the top leaders get together.

A Fish Story

A lone little gold fish swimming in a quart jar was found on the sidewalk in front of the Montgomery Ward Farm Store at 2:11 a. m. Thursday. How, when or why it got there was unknown.

But today the fish is enjoying the warmth of the police station, awaiting for its owner to call.

Big Confusion Over Housing Is Cleared Up

Units Were Included In Work Approved In Autumn of 1957

A state of confusion which arose over a Warrensburg City Council resolution protesting the building of 150 additional houses at the Whiteman Air Force Base has been ironed out to the satisfaction of all communities in the base area.

A meeting of civic leaders and city government officials from the various communities was held at the base Officers Club Thursday night, and the proposal was explained.

Col. Harold Humfeld, commander of the 340th Bomb Wing, presided over the meeting, in which he explained the necessity of the additional housing units to coordinate the operations of the Strategic Air Command, of which Whiteman Air Force Base is a part.

In September, 1957, a meeting was held at the base with city officials, civic leaders and civilian realtors, and base housing statistics and criteria were explained to the group. At that time it was pointed out the base authorization of on-base housing was 1,034.

With the 488 units recently completed, the base was entitled to ask for 546 more. However, to work with the communities, and at the same time to get additional houses for key personnel, they desired a number which could be constructed and at the same time not work too great a burden on the local communities in their own real estate problems.

At this September meeting, all representatives of the communities involved approved a definite plan for an additional 154 housing units, and this was a unanimous approval. They also made it known at this meeting that any larger number of new units would cause a hardship to local communities that they would have to oppose construction of more than those they agreed upon.

The past week, through misunderstanding, the City Council of Warrensburg went on record passing a resolution opposing the construction of an additional 150 housing units, apparently not realizing they were the same units previously approved.

Col. Humfeld at the meeting Thursday night, brought out the necessity of these additional housing units, and explained the meeting held in September, and distributed copies of the meeting minutes and a chart form by which the request for the housing was asked.

In explaining the need for the additional housing, he told of the changes in the workings of the Strategic Air Command. When the

Police Kill Member Of Coffee Break Gang

CHICAGO (AP)—Police broke up a "coffee break" robbery gang of three railroad workers yesterday, killing one man and capturing his two companions.

Two men walked into a police trap as they started to hold up a Southwest Side savings association. In a brief gun fight, one man was slain. His companion fired at two detectives, who had been hiding in the loan firm office. He fled, but was captured later.

A third man drove away at the sound of gunshots, but was caught by police.

Detectives said the two captured men admitted 10 robberies. One man, Charles Scherzinger, 25, was identified by 17 victims of various holdups. Seized with Scherzinger was Ray Mullins, 20. Killed in the crossfire at the Workmen Savings & Loan Assn. was William F. Fornella, 24.

Nothing happened during Pratt's visit. He said he examined the police file on the case and interviewed everyone concerned.

Dr. Pratt's investigation is an attempt to find out what caused the events in the Herrmann home and if there is a possibility that a member of the family has a mental power called psychokinesis, called PK—production of physical motion by psychic agency.

Thomas Norris Will Succeed Heber Hunt

New Administrator Was Chosen From Many Applicants

The Sedalia School Board today announced that Thomas Joseph Norris, 42, of Harrodsburg, Ky., will be the new superintendent of Sedalia's public schools. He will succeed Dr. Heber Hunt, who will retire at the end of the current school term.

The new superintendent was selected through a screening process which has been under way for the past several weeks. He comes to Sedalia highly recommended by officials of the University of Kentucky and all those people he has worked with. He is currently superintendent of the Harrodsburg High School.

He was interviewed by the school board in Sedalia Feb. 26, one of eight selected for interview out of approximately 100 applicants for the job. The school board unanimously selected him as the number one man on the list, subject to further negotiations. These negotiations were completed Friday, when four members of the school board flew to Kentucky to make the final arrangements. Board members making the trip were William F. Brown, F. A. Benner, Robert S. Johnson and E. G. Kehde, Jr. Members Charles Hunt and Mrs. Mary Studer were unable to make the trip.

Brown, president of the board, said that at the beginning of the screening process, letters asking for recommendations to fill the post were sent to all five state colleges in Missouri and to MU, and to universities in 16 states throughout the mid-west. About 100 applications and recommendations were received. About one month ago the field narrowed to eight, these men from Missouri, Indiana, Nebraska, Kentucky and New Mexico.

These eight applicants were interviewed separately by the board in Sedalia. Wednesday, the board announced the choice had been made, and that the four board members would make the trip to Kentucky to make the final arrangements. A telephone call to Dr. Hunt Friday confirmed the appointment.

Norris was originally recommended by Lyman V. Ginger. (Please turn to page 2 column 3)

Rules Out Hoax In Reports Of Bouncing Bottles

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—A Duke University psychologist who investigated the "bouncing bottle" case in Seaford, N. Y., said today he has all but ruled out the possibility of a hoax.

Members of the James Herrmann family during the past weeks have reported that bottles in their home bounce off their shelves, corks pop off, and figurines suddenly fly through the air—all without apparent reason.

Dr. Gaither Pratt, assistant director of the Duke Parapsychology Laboratory, who visited the Herrmann home in Seaford recently, said if a hoax was involved it would have to involve all members of the family.

Nothing happened during Pratt's visit. He said he examined the police file on the case and interviewed everyone concerned.

Dr. Pratt's investigation is an attempt to find out what caused the events in the Herrmann home and if there is a possibility that a member of the family has a mental power called psychokinesis, called PK—production of physical motion by psychic agency.

Pharris Visits Local Kiwanis For First Time

The responsibility of Kiwanis officers and committeemen to effect stimulation of club activities and to generate a response of the members to participate in the organization objectives, was the theme of a talk by Lt. Governor L. A. Pharris of Division IV on the first official visit to his own club.

By its activities the Sedalia club this year is already in the Gold division, and Lt. Pharris urged that it be kept so during the year under the leadership of its president, the Rev. Edward R. Sims.

The speaker was presented by William Ward, program chairman. Singing was led by the Rev. Arthur Schmidt with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist. In song the club recognized the birthday anniversary of Russell Maag.

Guests were: Neville Johnson and Ralph Walker with William Dugan.

Dean of the college of education at the University of Kentucky, who was associated with the applicant during his college years. Others, including the president of that university, added their recommendations.

His educational background includes graduation from Winchester High School at his hometown of Winchester, Ky., in 1935. In addition, he has attended Kentucky Wesleyan College, earning his bachelor's degree in liberal arts in 1940; and his master's degree in educational administration at the University of Kentucky in 1951. He is now working toward his doctor's degree in education at the university.

He taught biology at Owensville High School, Owensville, Ky., in 1940-1941; chemistry at Broughton High School, Raleigh, N. C., in 1941-1942; mathematics at Farrington High School in Honolulu, Hawaii, in 1944-1945; he was principal at Stanford High School, Stanford, Ky., in 1952-1953; and assumed the post of superintendent at Harrodsburg in 1953.

From 1943 until 1946, he was in the military service.

Norris was born Sept. 1, 1915, at Winchester. He is married and the father of three children, and a member of the Methodist Church. He is qualified to direct football and basketball programs.

In college he participated in football and basketball. He was awarded the Clifford Dean Memorial Award for leadership, scholarship, athletic ability and cooperation. He was honored by being named president of the honor council, vice president of the student body, and chairman of the executive committee, which is made up of the college president, dean, president of the student body, and the chairman elected at large.

Dr. Hunt announced last Nov. 12 that he wished to retire from school work at the end of the current school year, after being associated with the system since August, 1925. He has served as superintendent since April 1927. He said in his retirement letter, "I am deeply grateful for everything Sedalia has done for me and my family, and I shall cherish the pleasant memories of these 33 years as long as I live."

As a personal note added to the letter sent to the new superintendent, he explained that "Sedalia is a wonderful town and few people ever want to leave after they have been here for any considerable length of time."

Funeral services for Judge John Virgil Kesterson, 68, 1426 South Carr, former Presiding Judge of the Pettis County Court, who died at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Bothwell Hospital where he had been a patient since Feb. 22, will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Rev. J. R. Wallace, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Honorary pallbearers will be the Deacons of the First Baptist Church. Active pallbearers will be Howard Leech, Chillicothe; Leonard Bowen, Kansas City; Roy Strain, Little Rock, Ark.; Leonard Fall, Beaman; Olen Howard, J. J. Riley, Carl Schrader, Browne Edeline and Niles Forbes, all of Sedalia; and Howard Scott, Warsaw.

Burial will be in the Odessa Cemetery.

The body is at the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Mrs. Elsie P. Tidwell Rites
Funeral services for Mrs. Elsie P. Tidwell, 60, who died at Detroit, Mich., Wednesday, were held there at 1 p.m. Friday.

The body will arrive in Sedalia at 12:15 p.m. Saturday over the Missouri Pacific and be received by the Gillespie Funeral Home. It will remain there until 10 a.m. Monday, when it will be taken to Highland Memorial Gardens for grave services to be conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Davidson, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church.

Pallbearers will be Charlie Sanders, J. F. (Frosty) Dill, Lloyd Allee, Joe Snodgrass, Bill Rodeman and Leo Richards.

Thomas E. Donaldson Rites
Funeral services for Thomas E. Donaldson, who died Wednesday at the W. C. Butterwick home near Longwood, were held at 2 p.m. Friday, the Rev. Armin F. Klemme, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, officiating.

Organ music was played by Miss Lillian Fox.

Pallbearers were Frank Coffman, C. W. Hurt, Bob Henderson, Jim Labahn, George Dugan Jr., and Dick Gray.

Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Clinton Man Injured In Car Accident

Richard Lipsis, Clinton druggist, was painfully injured about 10 o'clock Thursday night in a one car accident on Highway 52, in front of the Ralph Milburn home just west of the Windsor junction. Mrs. Lipsis, driver of the car, escaped injury.

According to a report of the Highway Patrol, Mrs. Lipsis was headed west on the highway when, according to Mrs. Lipsis, the car went into a spin on the blacktop.

The car crossed the driveway of the Milburn farm, and slid into the ditch alongside the road. As the car spun, Lipsis was thrown out of the car on the pavement.

He suffered a severe cut on the top and on the back of his head, along with minor cuts about his forehead. He appeared to have suffered a slight concussion. Lipsis was taken to the Milburn home, where he was kept until an ambulance arrived and took him to a hospital in Clinton.

Slight damage resulted to the 1950 Oldsmobile sedan, which was pulled from the ditch and taken to Clinton by a wrecker from that city.

Three Clinton high school girls were with the Lipsis but were not injured. They had been to Marshall, where Clinton High School defeated Kemper in the regional tournament.

base was first reactivated, the plans to get into action called for a three-day program, then the fast moving of getting the SAC into quick action moved it up to a six-hour program; and, as Gen. Powers explained recently, the plan now calls to have SAC planes in the air in 15 minutes from the time an alert is sounded.

Thus additional housing for key personnel, such as flight crewmen, is extremely necessary.

Mayor H. H. Russell, Warrensburg, explained the action of the Council, saying it was not done with the intention of hurting the programming of SAC. Stanley Fisher, city manager of Warrensburg, also stated it was apparent he had not fully explained the previous meeting, and that the resolutions had not been forwarded to federal agencies.

Mayor Russell explained the Council would be presented the facts for further consideration. However, as individuals, the group agreed the additional housing was and is a necessity.

Col. Humfeld stressed, "At no time will we, or at least as long as I am commander here, will the Air Force ask for and have additional housing built without first discussing our problems with the city officials, civic leaders and others interested. In all of my 20 years' service, I have never had, nor have I seen, better cooperation between communities and the military than has been, is being, and will be enjoyed in the Whiteman area."

Explorer II Met Its End In Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A fiery death came to Explorer II, the Army's second space satellite, about 1,900 miles from home over the South Atlantic.

The announcement was made yesterday.

At Cape Canaveral, within sight of the vacant Jupiter-C pad where Explorer II left the earth Wednesday, is a Navy Vanguard rocket, ready to take off this week with its own pocket-sized satellite.

The Army, meanwhile, made plans for more satellites, but they may be bigger and better than the now dead Explorer II. It said it was building Explorer III and would launch it this spring.

The blame for the failure of Explorer II was laid to the 50-pound rocket that carried the satellite as its pointed nose. This was the final stage of the Jupiter-C four-stage rocket system.

The final stage failed to fire—why scientists don't know and don't expect to find out. The satellite, lacking the added thrust, didn't get up anywhere near the gravity-defying speed of 18,000 miles an hour.

Scientists said it took a long time to find out what had happened to the satellite because of conflicting reports. They spent more than 24 hours evaluating the information that came back from the rocket.

When the 30-inch satellite and rocket assembly plummeted into the earth's atmosphere again, its speed and the friction of the earth's atmosphere created its own fiery destruction.

Snodgrass Named To Committee Of US Loan League

John E. Snodgrass, secretary-treasurer of the Sedalia Savings and Loan Association, has been appointed to the 1958 personnel policies committee of the United States Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced today by Joseph Holzka, Staten Island, N.Y., president of the League, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 4,400 savings associations and co-operative banks.

Over the years many members of the League have participated in the work of the personnel policies committee and have made important contributions to the development of an informed savings and loan opinion on personnel matters. The committee has established a set of standards that is increasingly reflected in the personnel policies and practices of individual savings and loan institutions. Numerous studies conducted and sponsored by the personnel policies committee are serving as working guides to management.

Actress Says Spouse Studying at Bar

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"It looks to me like you're studying at a bar instead of for the bar," actress Jo Ann Scherer says she told her husband.

"He flew into a tantrum and moved out."

On that testimony the 25-year-old movie and television player yesterday divorced Atty. Clifford B. Scherer, 29. She told the court he had come home with lipstick on his shirts and liquor on his breath from evenings out to study for the state bar examination. She charged cruelty.

Control Over Funds Given To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has voted to give Congress more control over unspent funds carried over by government departments from year to year.

Some members of Congress say these unspent balances from appropriations in previous years now total billions of dollars.

By a vote of 311-87, the House passed a compromise budget reform bill somewhat in accord with recommendations made by the Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization.

The compromise, opposed by members of the House Appropriations Committee, now goes to the Senate, which last year passed a bill incorporating all the Hoover Commission proposals in this field.

The House bill does not provide for any drastic changes in present procedure. Under this, Congress generally appropriates the entire amount for a project, although the work may be paid for over a period of years.

The new plan approved by the House would permit Congress to continue providing the full amount the first year, but to limit the amount to be spent in any one year. It calls for annual review of the need for continuing long-term projects and would permit cancellation or transfer of unspent funds already appropriated.

The house bill would bar a return to the old system under which departments were authorized to contract for long-term programs but were given actual money for only a beginning on the work. The Hoover Commission had urged a return to that contract authority practice.

Opponents of the new plan contend it would eventually increase spending because they say it would require additional accounting and annual review of thousands of continuing contracts.

Snow, Rains Cover Broad Area Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More snow and rain fell in broad areas of the country today, with a snow covering of up to a foot in some places. Only sections of the Northeast and north central region appeared out of the wet belt.

Heaviest precipitation was in the Southern half of the country. Showers sprinkled the far Southwest, with scattered thunderstorms and rain eastward through the central part of the country from Kansas to Texas, through the Gulf Coast states and into Georgia and South Carolina.

Amounts were light in most areas except Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and parts of Texas.

The rain belt extended northward in the mid-continent through Missouri and into Kansas, where rain turned snow in the northwest region. The snow band spread into southwest Nebraska and southward through Colorado and into New Mexico and also touched extreme northwest Texas.

Heaviest snowfall was from southeastern Colorado through northwest Kansas, with falls averaging from 2 to 4 inches in a six-hour period. At Russell, Kan., snow on the ground measured a foot.

Heavy falls also were reported in parts of the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle, with 5 inches of snow in some areas. Drifts in western areas of Oklahoma blocked highways.

In the Far West, heavy rain hit Southern California, with snow in mountain areas and dust storms in the Southwest desert region. Los Angeles was pelted by hail and rain and was cooled by temperatures of 46, a drop of 8 degrees in 2 1/2 hours.

Girl Claims Mamie Is a Nice Lady

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"She's a real nice lady," said Barbara Ann Kendrick, 12, after a telephone chat with her friend Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower.

Barbara Ann talked with the President's wife last night, renewing an acquaintance begun five years ago in Denver when the little girl met the First Lady as a representative of the Brownie Scouts of America.

Barbara's father, the Rev. A. G. Kendrick, is pastor of the First Institutional Baptist Church in Phoenix.

The girl said Mrs. Eisenhower remembered her and "asked me to say hello to all my schoolmates" in the Booker T. Washington School. Mrs. Eisenhower, vacationing at a Phoenix health and beauty resort, was a little disappointed in the weather, Barbara Ann added, but was enjoying her vacation.

Predicts More Homes

Demo Senators Push Efforts In Anti-Recession Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic senators pushed ahead today their efforts to develop an anti-recession program including public works, tax cuts, housing and highways.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) predicted the Senate would pass, probably Tuesday, a housing bill he said would produce at least 200,000 more homes this year than under present programs.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said he was confident the Public Works Committee would approve by Thursday his bill to speed up the already large federal highway program.

There also was a good chance of action on two resolutions which Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) introduced. Forty-seven Democrats and six Republicans joined in sponsoring the resolutions, designed to prod the Eisenhower administration into stepped-up spending on military and civil public works projects.

Johnson said he had been told that as of Dec. 31, the total unexpended balance for civil and military public works was $5,700,000,000.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said he would offer a proposal to slash personal income and federal excise levies by $4,400,000,000 a year.

Rules Theme Song Played Only Once

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ruled against composers Carmen Lombardo and John J. Leeb, who sought additional royalties from Arthur Godfrey's theme song.

Godfrey plays parts of the theme melody, "Seems Like Old Times," a total of 12 times today on his daytime radio and television shows. Under the rules of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, this counts as only one playing and royalties are assessed accordingly.

Lombardo, brother of band leader Guy Lombardo, and Leeb sued ASCAP to break the ruling, contending they should be entitled to royalties for each excerpt of the theme that Godfrey plays.

Justice Mario Pitoni dismissed the suit. Pitoni noted that the song already has netted the composers $340,000 from Godfrey's programs.

loan programs, and permit a one quarter per cent increase in the present 4 1/2 per cent interest rate on GI home loans.

Gore's highway bill would provide about 12 1/2 billion dollars in new federal-state financing in the next 13 years. An extra $1,400,000,000 would be made available for all federal aid road programs this year.

Douglas' tax-cutting plan would lower the rate on the first $1,000 of taxable income from 20 to 15 per cent.

Teaching Can Be Exciting

We hardly need opinion surveys to establish that we in this country generally have a low opinion of the teaching profession. The salaries we pay teachers speak eloquently of our attitude.

But samplings of opinion do reinforce this sad fact. Not only average citizens but community leaders seem to put teaching near the bottom of the career scale.

The general view is that teaching not only fails to bring financial reward and security and respect and recognition, but is not even more than moderately interesting work.

In the present circumstances, there can be no quarrel with these judgments as they relate to fame, prestige and monetary reward. The tragic thing here is that a vicious circle is involved. These appraisals are true because Americans have made them true.

In other lands, teachers stand at or near the top in public esteem and generally are far better compensated than ours. Teaching is seen as honorable work lending at least a touch of distinction to those who practice it.

The hardest judgment to digest, however, is that teaching isn't very interesting. It should be—and can be—tremendously exciting. Whenever and wherever it is not, there is something radically wrong.

In the first place, teaching is charged with heavy and challenging responsibility. The task is one of helping to shape and mold the plastic minds of the young, to show them how to think and how to master knowledge.

Importance alone does not necessarily make for excitement. Things can be important but dull. But teaching at its best is a kind of missionary work, and there is a little bit of the missionary in all of us.

We find it exciting to let others in on the things we know of life, the experiences we have had, the insights we have perceived. Teaching offers that rich satisfaction magnified many times, for the story is not the teacher's own but the much fuller one of what the world is like and how an individual can be fitted to embrace it.

To tell that story, to help equip young people to deal with their world, the teacher must perforce learn how to think himself and master a lot of the accumulated knowledge of life. These masteries alone should place him high on the scale in prestige and reward.

Teaching above all is a dedication to the discovery and the spread of truth. If there is any more honorable enterprise on earth than this, what can it be?

The World Today

Vice-Presidency Might Need Mediocrity

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — A trustworthy, agreeable, inoffensive mediocrity could become vice president.

That might be the result if the Eisenhower-Nixon agreement on how a vice president takes over from an ailing president becomes the rule — for lack of any other solution — for future presidents and vice presidents.

It's easy to see how future presidential candidates would want as their No. 2 man on the ticket an individual whose chief qualification for the job was not so much ability but trustworthiness and a gift for me-too-ism.

President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon — just because the Constitution doesn't spell out how a vice president takes over from a disabled president — sought to avoid possible future confusion by reaching this agreement.

If Eisenhower becomes unable to carry out his duties Nixon will decide whether he should take them over. Under the agreement Nixon can — but he's free to suit himself — consult others before deciding to become acting president.

If Eisenhower recovers he — not Nixon — will decide whether he's able to resume his job.

This kind of arrangement is all right for Eisenhower and Nixon. They trust each other. Eisenhower has confidence in Nixon's ability. So, apparently, does the Republican party or it wouldn't have picked him twice for the vice presidency.

The two men feel they can, under their agreement, handle the problem of an Eisenhower disability. They have made it plain they intend it to apply only to them.

But it may well become an unwritten rule for the future unless

Congress — by proposing a constitutional amendment — puts some other arrangement into national law. One future point in particular could stand clearing up in an amendment. It's this:

Should a vice president be free to decide when a president is too disabled to do his duties or should the decision be made by a group of government officials or in some other way?

The Eisenhower administration wants a constitutional amendment and has banged away at Congress to propose one.

But Congress has been beating its gums on this whole question and has done nothing. There's a good chance it will continue doing nothing and that, without their intending it so, the Eisenhower-Nixon agreement will become a rule.

Suppose that, for lack of constitutional clarification, this agreement becomes the formula for the future. Then, with that in mind, this could happen at a political convention:

A man chosen to be a party's presidential candidate might not want as his vice-presidential running mate a man he feared might at some future time try to move in on him during a period of illness and take over the presidency.

Rather, he might want as his No. 2 man one whose chief qualification was trustworthiness — one who agreed with him but who might be far less qualified than an individual who, while trustworthy, did not see eye to eye with him on everything.

It's easy to see why: a vice president who disagreed with a president's programs might start to change them if, because of a presidential disability, he became acting president.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

There are a great many suicides in the world. Day after day the news tells about unfortunate, discouraged people who take their own lives. These folk commit the unforgivable sin of denying God and His power. They overlook the fact that the love of God is steadfast and that new opportunities of life are offered every morning.

When people dwell on their own failures, on their own weaknesses and on their own refusal to turn to God, they become so involved in confusion that they surrender to defeat. They take everything in their own hands. They find their own minds too small to deal with life. When people become completely independent of God they try to escape from themselves.

There is only one escape from self. That is through God. God gives life eternally. Man without God seeks oblivion through death. If utterly defeated folk would turn to God there would be very few suicides.

Publicity Stops Congressional Cover-up

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — The exit of Commissioner Richard Mack from the Federal Communications Commission brings up the question of why congressional committees frequently don't want to investigate until prodded into it by the press.

In the case of Mack and the FCC, the Harris committee simply did not want to investigate, was planning to hold a phony, punch-pulling, philosophical investigation, and even voted to fire its counsel—until public opinion, aroused by the press, became too potent.

This question of congressional hesitation is deep-rooted and basic. It goes to the issue of why an alert press is important. In case after case, congressional committees have not acted until goaded by the press. It was Charley Bartlett of the Chattanooga Times who forced the McClellan committee to bring out the Harold Talbot conflict of interest after he exposed the fact that the Senate committee was sitting on it.

It was Eddie Folliard of the Washington Post who dug up the Jack Porter letter on the Texas natural gas lobby fund.

It was the old New York World which broke the Teapot Dome scandal that led to the famed Senate investigation in the Harding administration. It was the New York Herald Tribune that broke the story of the five-percenters during the Truman administration—though the same newspaper has been strangely silent regarding the President's brother-in-law in this administration.

The life of the digging newspaperman is not always easy. He gets called names from both sides of the political fence. Sometimes the digging takes days and weeks, plus plenty of expense. But it is a vitally important function of the press, and is one reason why the press is given a special freedom under the Constitution.

Early Mack Probe
In the Commissioner Mack case, most people thought that disgruntled Dr. Bernard Schwartz was leaking to this column. It was the other way around. As early as last August, Jack Anderson, my alert junior partner, went to Miami and interviewed Thurman Whiteside. This was before Dr. Schwartz got started in Washington. Anderson also talked to Commissioner Mack and got an admission from him that he had received money from Whiteside. This was published January 17. When we tipped off Dr. Schwartz, Mack was interviewed with a wire recorder and gave damaging admissions which have now led to his resignation.

One trouble with congressional committees is that too many congressmen are out to protect their friends. Too many have intervened at the FCC. It's also the trouble with the Justice Department. The attorney general has become a political officeholder. The Justice Department, despite an army of G-men, did not move to convict four kickbacking congressmen until after exposes in this column. One reason is that the Justice Department has to get appropriations from Congressmen. It doesn't like to tangle with Congress.

The Justice Department has never moved in on some of the conflict-of-interest cases turned up by the press in this administration, though there was one prosecution under the Truman administration.

Peter Strobel, Ike's public buildings commissioner, was exposed in this column and subsequently had to resign for influencing federal contracts with his own firm. Carl O. Hansen was fired from the Farm Home Administration after this column revealed he was working for a wool company on the side.

It should be the job of the Justice Department to catch these conflicts, not entirely the job of the press. It should have been the job of the FBI to report on the background of Commissioner Mack before he was appointed. This column reported his pro-utility connections on May 27, 1955, before he took office. This is a responsibility of the press, but not its responsibility alone.

However, the Justice Department and the FBI frequently don't like to go against the choice of the White House—and this is true of both the Republicans and the Democrats.

Politics Make No Difference

Actually the party in power has little to do with honesty. Both Republicans and Democrats claim to be honest men. Or they claim the opposite party is made up of dishonest men. However, Harry Truman will knock the daylight out of you orally if you step on the toes of his influence-wielding military aide; and the Republicans will maneuver and manipulate to cancel your column if you expose corruption in high GOP places.

Personally, I don't get any kick out of exposing people just for the sake of exposing. It's no particular fun being a cop. Poor old John Maragon, the influence peddler whom I had something to do with sending to jail, is so much more innocent than some of the bigwigs who are getting away with murder that I feel ashamed every time I see him.

Likewise with Henry "Mystery Man" Grunwald, whose crime was peanuts compared with some of the big figures for whom he did inside jobs and who have now deserted him.

However, congressmen will never investigate other congressmen. And the Justice Department usually hesitates before moving in on powerful figures in high places. Len Hall, the genial, likable ex-chairman of the Republican national committee, was caught in the act of demanding a political contribution from Frederick H. Snare Co. officials in connection with the government's Nicaro contract. But Hall's friend and fellow worker, Attorney General Brownell, didn't move against him, and neither will his friend and fellow New Yorker, the present attorney general, Bill Rogers.

William McGaffin of the Chicago Daily News is one of the news diggers who has lived up to the responsibility of the press by keeping after Hall even though he and I both know we won't get very far.

Maybe some of us are too zealous. But the point to be remembered is that if we want good government we must have honest government. And the strength of our government depends on public confidence in the moral integrity of our officials.

Thought For Today

Now therefore give me this mountain, whereof the Lord spake in that day; for thou hearest in that day how the Annakims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced: if so be the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out, as the Lord said.—Joshua 14:12.

Vice-Presidency Might Need Mediocrity

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — A trustworthy, agreeable, inoffensive mediocrity could become vice president.

That might be the result if the Eisenhower-Nixon agreement on how a vice president takes over from an ailing president becomes the rule — for lack of any other solution — for future presidents and vice presidents.

It's easy to see how future presidential candidates would want as their No. 2 man on the ticket an individual whose chief qualification for the job was not so much ability but trustworthiness and a gift for me-too-ism.

President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon — just because the Constitution doesn't spell out how a vice president takes over from a disabled president — sought to avoid possible future confusion by reaching this agreement.

If Eisenhower becomes unable to carry out his duties Nixon will decide whether he should take them over. Under the agreement Nixon can — but he's free to suit himself — consult others before deciding to become acting president.

If Eisenhower recovers he — not Nixon — will decide whether he's able to resume his job.

This kind of arrangement is all right for Eisenhower and Nixon. They trust each other. Eisenhower has confidence in Nixon's ability. So, apparently, does the Republican party or it wouldn't have picked him twice for the vice presidency.

The two men feel they can, under their agreement, handle the problem of an Eisenhower disability. They have made it plain they intend it to apply only to them.

But it may well become an unwritten rule for the future unless

Congress — by proposing a constitutional amendment — puts some other arrangement into national law. One future point in particular could stand clearing up in an amendment. It's this:

Should a vice president be free to decide when a president is too disabled to do his duties or should the decision be made by a group of government officials or in some other way?

The Eisenhower administration wants a constitutional amendment and has banged away at Congress to propose one.

But Congress has been beating its gums on this whole question and has done nothing. There's a good chance it will continue doing nothing and that, without their intending it so, the Eisenhower-Nixon agreement will become a rule.

Suppose that, for lack of constitutional clarification, this agreement becomes the formula for the future. Then, with that in mind, this could happen at a political convention:

A man chosen to be a party's presidential candidate might not want as his vice-presidential running mate a man he feared might at some future time try to move in on him during a period of illness and take over the presidency.

Rather, he might want as his No. 2 man one whose chief qualification was trustworthiness — one who agreed with him but who might be far less qualified than an individual who, while trustworthy, did not see eye to eye with him on everything.

It's easy to see why: a vice president who disagreed with a president's programs might start to change them if, because of a presidential disability, he became acting president.

Drug Addiction Is Medical, Legal Problem of Big Cities

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A recent report from the Council on Mental Health helps greatly to strip away some of the false ideas which are held so widely about narcotic addiction.

Probably everyone knows that the "drug habit" refers generally to preparations obtained from the poppy seed—opium. There are many drugs in this classification, but in the United States heroin is the most important from the standpoint of dope addiction.

Continued taking of opium-derived drugs results in a dependence of the body, both physiologically and emotionally, so that it becomes extremely difficult to discontinue. This is then said to be a habit.

How much drug addiction is there? Accurate figures are lacking, but it is thought that there are no more than 60,000 drug addicts in the United States, and a count of known addicts in Canada revealed 3,212.

Addiction is largely a local problem. In the United States, cities with the highest concentrations of addicts include New York, Chicago, Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles. Probably in the United States the vast majority of all addicts are in a few large cities.

In view of the excitement about teenage-age addiction the report noted that addiction in persons under 21 has increased since World War II, but that this amounts to only about 13 per cent of all known addicts.

How does someone become addicted to narcotics? The areas with the greatest number of addicts are in cities and in those areas populated with people with the lowest income, poorest housing, most unstable family structures, highest delinquency rates and large minority groups.

Most addicts are characterized by personality disturbances and, contrary to widely heralded opinion, drug peddlers play a small role in causing addiction. More often the habit is spread from person to person by an addict friend who gives some of the drug to a newcomer as a "friendly gesture."

The report recommends the development of institutional care programs in cities and states which have significant drug addict problems.

It also recommends the development of all phases of the narcotic problem is indicated, since there are many gaps in our knowledge of prevention and treatment.

However, criminal procedures against addicts alone will not answer the problem; consequently, there should be close cooperation between the medical and legal professions in adopting and enforcing laws and procedures most likely to be truly helpful.

Uranium Field Beckons

Senators Interested In National Bank Charter

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Experts say the richest uranium reserves in the United States are concentrated in the area around Grants, New Mexico.

If the experts are right, there'll be money in Grants. And because money can be made on money, the banking business will be looking up.

Sterling Black, son of Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, knows that. So last fall, on behalf of himself and his associates, he asked the Treasury Department for a National Bank Charter. (Justice Black is not associated with the group seeking the charter.)

National Banks are members of the Federal Reserve system, and the accounts of depositors are protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. A National Bank has the implied endorsement of the United States government. And a charter is a thing of value.

Which fact is well known by Senators Robert Kerr (D-Okla.) and Clinton Anderson (D-N. M.). Probably that's why they too have applied for a National Bank Charter in Grants.

Kerr, a multi-millionaire oilman, is ranking Democrat on the powerful Finance Committee. Anderson, who has a large insurance business in New Mexico, is vice chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy and also serves on Finance.

The power to issue National Bank Charters is vested in one man, the Comptroller of the Currency. The present occupant of that office is Ray M. Gidney, Deputy Comptroller is L. A. Jennings, and it is to him that all inquiries about National Bank Charters are referred by the Treasury Department press office.

Treasury's press office might as well refer reporters to a sphinx. Proceedings involving charters for national banks are shrouded in secrecy.

Jennings, when asked about the status of the applications for the national bank charter in Grants, said that decision had been postponed to give one applicant time to file additional information.

"That would be Black and his associates," Jennings was asked. "That's what you say," Jennings replied.

"Well, which applicant does want more time," Jennings was pressed.

"Oh, I couldn't say without looking at the files," he answered. "Can't you look?"

No, he couldn't. In fact, all Jennings could do was give the names of the applicants.

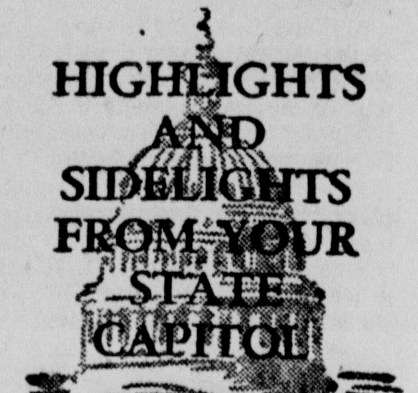

Suppose an applicant were turned down? Could he find out why? The applicant could, Jennings said, implying that reporters could not.

Jennings was then asked if it was his position that it was none of the public's business as to who gets a charter. He said it certainly wasn't, not on a "blow by blow basis."

From other sources it was learned that the Kerr-Anderson group is favored to get the nod from the Comptroller of the Currency.

In short, two extremely influential and wealthy Democratic Senators may be on the verge of receiving a valuable national bank charter as a result of secret deliberations at the Treasury Department.

Missouri Senate Tribute To 'Gene Preston'

The Missouri Senate took time out last week to pay tribute to the late Eugene L. Preston, editor of the Liberty Tribune who died Feb. 22.

The Senate unanimously adopted a resolution of sympathy to the Preston family. The resolution was introduced by Sen. William B. Waters, (D-Liberty).

The resolution termed Preston as "one of the best known and outstanding newspaper editors in the state." Preston had served as a newspaper editor at Nevada, Marshall, Booneville and Norborne and as publicity chairman for the state highway commission, the old state fish and game department and publicity director for the Missouri State Fair.

"In every community where Mr. Preston lived, he was leader in the civic life and promoter of the best interests in that community," the resolution stated.

"Through his long experience as a newspaper editor," the resolution said, "Preston gained esteem and friendship of members of his profession and others who came in contact with him."

Expanded Road Program Could Boost Jobs

An expansion of the federal road program could have a terrific impact on employment in Missouri, according to Rex Whitton, chief engineer of the state highway department.

Whitton estimated that one-third of the funds spent for the federal road program would be spent on labor—and that doesn't include the labor that goes into processing road materials such as concrete, gravel and steel.

Whitton said Missouri has been allocated $45 million for building the inter-state highway network in 1958. But he said the state is ready and willing to spend an additional $25 million in federal funds this year—if Congress would make the allocation.

As set up by Congress in 1956, the federal road program envisioned spending $27 billion in 13 years on a nation-wide network of highways which would be used for civilian, and if necessary, defense, transportation. Later estimates of the program hit $40 billion for the 13 year period.

However, Congress is now considering the so-called Byrd amendment which would stretch out the road program to 20 years and therefore reduce the yearly allotments of funds set up for each state. Whitton said Missouri's 1959 allotment of $53 million could be cut down to $45 million. The state is required to match the federal allotments with 10 per cent state funds.

Gov. James T. Blair is also vitally interested in the federal road program and will be in Washington this week to lobby against the Byrd amendment. Blair said a number of Missouri's unemployed could be put to work in 90 days if the additional funds are allocated for the road program and if the Byrd amendment is defeated.

Mikan Wishes Yardley Well Before Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George Yardley was the dinner guest of George Mikan last night in a friendly prelude to the breaking of a record.

A few hours later Yardley, the scoring ace of the Detroit Pistons, pumped in 49 points and broke the 7-year-old National Basketball Assn. scoring record set by Mikan, former star of the Minneapolis Lakers.

"Mikan wished me well," Yardley said after the game in telling about the dinner. "I needed his moral support. There isn't a jealous bone in my body."

Yardley's 49 points in the Pistons' 132-116 triumph over the Lakers brought his season's total to 1,953. Mikan's record, set in the 1950-51 season, was 1,932 points.

Yardley, who freely admits he is a poor passer and anything but a lion on defense, said he didn't want his bombardment of the record to hurt Detroit's chances of winning the game.

"Don't forget, we're still fighting for second place in the Western Division," he said.

With two games remaining, Yardley is within shooting distance of 2,000 points. He needs 47 points—an average of 23½ per game—to make 2,000. His season average for 70 games is 27.9 points per game.

Yardley, a balding engineering graduate of Stanford, also set a free throw record. He dropped in 11 of 15 free throws, raising his total to 635. This eclipsed the record of 625 set last year by Dolph Schayes of Syracuse.

The 28-year-old Yardley, a 6-foot-5 shooter who can score from outside or inside, joined the Pistons in 1953.

Cincinnati's tight 110-108 triumph over Philadelphia in the other NBA game last night came on the work of Clyde Lovellette and Jack Twyman who combined for 61 points. Lovellette pumped in 37 points and Twyman scored 24.

Cardinals' Manager Keeps Kasko, Dark Changes Permanent

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The spring training season is barely under way but Manager Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals has decided to make permanent his experiment of putting Eddie Kasko at shortstop and moving the veteran Alvin Dark to third.

"Kasko will remain at short from now on," Hutch said after Kasko, ranged smoothly behind second place and handled nine chances flawlessly in a pepper game yesterday.

The 35-year-old Dark, still one of the game's most effective hit-and-run batters, will perform at third—assuming he can fend off the challenges of Ben Valenzuela and Curt Flood.

Wet Fairways With More Rain Greet Golfers

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Waterlogged fairways and a promise of more rain greeted the field today for the weather-delayed $20,000 New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

More than 1½ inches of rain fell early yesterday, covering the City Park course with several inches of water in some spots.

The field of 150 will play 18-hole rounds today and tomorrow with the 36-hole finals set for Sunday. If rain forces another delay today, play may have to be extended until Monday.

Slim Ken Venturi of San Francisco, winner of the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open that ended Sunday, is favored to win the first PGA tournament held in the city since 1948.

Venturi is the only three-time winner on the winter tour.

Host professional Henry Thomas said earlier the 6,600-yard course would be "the longest 6,600 yards the pros would play this winter." But the muddy going will make the course play even longer and enhances the chances of those who boast a good short iron game.

The tournament was revived when a group of 300 golf enthusiasts each donated $100 for prize money and other tournament expenses.

Simmons to Defend Pin Title Friday

Johnny Simmons, the 19-year-old bowling sensation, will make his first defense of the "Bowling at Broadway" championship tonight when he clashes with sharpshooting Jack Vaughan, the highly regarded challenger.

Simmons gained the championship last Friday night by upsetting four-times champion John Hazel in a thrilling series. Vaughan gained the right to participate on the locally televised program by topping Fran Tray in a roll off after the two had tied as the week's high qualifiers.

The program will be televised over KDRO beginning at 8 p.m.

Grade School Tournament Finals Friday

Hubbard's young Tigers defeated Sacred Heart 39-25 Thursday night and Lincoln downed Green Ridge 38-26 to gain berths in the finals of the annual LaMonte Invitational Grade School Basketball Tournament. In the volleyball tournament, host team LaMonte scored a 29-19 decision over Lincoln's girls and Cole Camp triumphed 31-22 over Smithton to advance to the final round in the volleyball competition.

Hubbard raced to a 20-8 half-time lead over the small Grem-lins and was never seriously challenged as Glen Whitney paved the way for the Tigers with 18 points. Jerry Barr tallied 13 to pace Sacred Heart.

Lincoln completely outclassed the Green Ridge crew throughout the first half as they held a 25-4 half-time lead. However, Green Ridge came on strong after the intermission to outscore Lincoln 22-12 in the second half, but it was too late to repair the damage. Frisch led Lincoln's offensive with 16 points and Vanney was high for Green Ridge with nine.

Laura Chevalier led LaMonte to a volleyball victory over Lincoln with six points, but Lincoln's Riddle took game scoring honors with ten points. Wisker and Tevis gave Cole Camp its boost over Smithton with five points each and Monsees led the losers with 7 points.

In tonight's finals, Hubbard meets Lincoln at 9:15 for the basketball title and LaMonte plays Cole Camp at 8:15 for the volleyball championship. Sacred Heart vies with Green Ridge at 7 o'clock for third place in the basketball competition and Lincoln and Smithton battle at 6 o'clock for third in volleyball.

Head Coach at K-State Says Problems Keep Cropping Up

By SKIPPER PATRICK

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Success turned Morice Frederick Winter from Happy Warrior into Happy Worrier.

For a couple of weeks now the head basketball coach at Kansas State has insisted he faces more problems than any Indian who ever crossed Custer. The next problem is Kansas, tomorrow night.

Tex Winter was a basketball and track star at University of Southern California and he recently observed his 36th birthday sitting on or bouncing off the bench as his Kansas State Wildcats clinched the Big Eight Conference basketball championship by beating Oklahoma.

Hardly ever had the Big Eight crown been sewed up so early. Kansas State for weeks had ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press basketball poll. The Wildcats had a berth in the midwest NCAA regional playoffs. But there was no peace of mind for Tex Winter.

"Nobody has won all their conference games in this league in a dozen years," he said. "We've got Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas to play in the conference before we can afford to start worrying about Cincinnati."

Missouri was no problem but then came lowly Nebraska to upset the Wildcats 55-48.

"We are going to get around to worrying about Cincinnati and Oscar Robertson after we play Kansas Saturday," Tex reiterated. "If we start worrying about Robertson now we'd likely panic when we face Wilt Chamberlain."

Cincinnati will be Kansas State's foe in the opening game of the NCAA regional at Lawrence, Kan., next Friday.

The anxious seat is nothing new for Tex. Kansas State won the conference championship two years ago but lost in the NCAA regional.

Winter first came to Kansas State as an assistant in 1947, moved to Marquette as head coach in 1951, and was back after two seasons to become head man at K-State.

He was born in Wellington, Tex., reared at Lubbock, Tex., and became a Californian at 14. He went to Compton Junior College in California and to Oregon State before enlisting in the Navy's V-5 program.

During World War II he played for Navy Air Station teams at Marquette, Iowa Pre-Flight and Corpus Christi. He completed his college basketball at Southern California in 1947 and was named USC's most inspirational athlete.

He also won the National AAU junior pole vault at 14 feet 2½ inches in 1947.

First Sacker Caliber Has Deteriorated

The Associated Press

For some reason the caliber of major league first basemen seems to have deteriorated in the past couple of decades.

That's not a knock at such players as Stan Musial of St. Louis, Gil Hodges of Los Angeles, Joe Adcock of Milwaukee or Bill Skowron of New York.

It's just that baseball fans in the mid 1930s could point to such crackerjacks as Jimmy Foss, Lou Gehrig, Hank Greenberg, Bill Terry, Johnny Mize, Phil Cavarretta, Hal Trosky and Joe Kuhel.

When Ted Kluszewski stepped down to rest an ailing back last season it further diminished the first-base ranks.

Now Kluszewski says he'll be ready soon. And with hard-hitting youngsters Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants, Ron Jackson of the Chicago White Sox and Marv Throneberry of the Yankees all battling for big league jobs in spring training, the pendulum may swing the other way.

Kluszewski, traded from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh during the winter, said: "I've felt good so far. I have started to put a little more into my swing down in the batting cage and I should be ready to go in a couple more weeks."

The Pirates can use Kluszewski's power. The game's celebrated muscle man has hit 251 homers in 11 seasons and shows a lifetime batting average of .302.

Cepeda and Harry Simpson, a part-time first baseman for the Yankees last season, also warned up effectively for the opening of Saturday's exhibition schedule. Both hit home runs in intrasquad games. Simpson's was a grand slammer.

The Dodgers, who will meet the Phillies Saturday night in Miami, had Johnny Podres pitch three innings in an intrasquad game. Podres showed no serious effects from the gashed forehead and wrenched neck he suffered in automobile accident Wednesday.

Duke Snider, who was also in the accident, was in uniform but he did not play.

Oahu Rainstorm Ends With Heavy Damage

TV to Show A-Bomb Film Next Sunday

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Seated before the large screen in the television projection studio it seemed that you were at the controls of a B29 again.

Here, in camera closeup, were the instrument panel and the control pedestal. Out through the plexiglass dome you could see Pacific cumulus clouds in the glare of morning sun.

"We started our climb to 30,000 feet at 7:40. At 18,500 feet I set the C-1 automatic pilot up for the last time until after 'bombs away.' I checked with the crew at 20,000 and all stations reported satisfactory. We reached our altitude at 8:30. Nelson received a report that our primary target is the best target. So we will make a bomb run on Hiroshima."

The husky man in the projection studio shifted suddenly at the memory of writing those words in the plane which he now saw on the screen roaring toward Hiroshima and a new era of history.

He saw the bomb falling. Then everything grew dim in a flashing white brilliance. There was a cloud, an enormous and strangely shaped cloud. He remembered whispering to himself, "My God, what have we done?"

The screen of the projection studio darkened suddenly and the lights came on. The man who had been flying B29 to Hiroshima in memory again, Robert A. Lewis—turned to the man beside him.

"That's exactly the way it was," he said.

Lewis had been viewing for the first time recently declassified top-secret films of the preparations that led up to the dropping of the first atomic bomb Aug. 6, 1945. The television audience will see the same filmed account next Sunday on Twentieth Century (CBS-TV).

Using films and a diary of the mission kept by co pilot Lewis, Phil Reisman Jr. has written a fine documentary of the historic event.

Lewis and his crew were selected for the job because of his extensive experience with B29s and his outstanding record as a pilot. Col. Paul Tibbets Jr., pilot of the plane, was the squadron commander.

Lewis is a thoroughly domesticated civilian now. He and his wife live in Old Tappan, N.J., with their four sons and one daughter. He commutes to a candy manufacturing firm in New York, where he is personnel director.

"I don't think that my mission to Hiroshima was useless," he said after viewing it on film. "When I was in Japan after the war was over I heard people say it was 'God's wind' that wiped out one city instead of the entire empire. I'll say this. I'll say it was God's wind if it proves to be a deterrent to future wars. If it is, and I believe that it is, then the bombing of Hiroshima was worth it."

Guenther to Direct Summer Camp Music

Lawrence W. Guenther, director of vocal and instrumental music in the Midland, Mich., public school has been chosen director of orchestras in the Interlochen Music Camp, the largest in the U.S. for the summer. He has also been chosen to give a number of lectures of music students in the University of Michigan during the latter part of the summer.

He was recently elected vice-president of the Michigan Music Educators Association and was named chairman of the committee on the supervision and administration of music in the Association.

Lawrence is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Guenther, 1608 East Tenth. He has a son, who is a student at the University of Michigan.

age of communication. We can pick up a phone and talk to anyone. But we're losing the art of letter writing, of communicating with each other with the written word. My own daughter, who is away at school, never writes me; she always telephones collect. She isn't getting the training I got in expressing herself with letters."

Ketti Frings is a good-looking, expressive woman who has been turning out top-notch movie scripts ("Come Back, Little Sheba," "The Shrike") for years. Last fall, she left the relative anonymity of a screen writer to turn the Thomas Wolfe novel into a hit play starring Tony Perkins.

Your Democrat newspaperboy welcomes paid-in-office subscriptions. He requests such payments be made in advance so he may receive credit each week. If a subscriber continues receiving the Democrat after expiration it means that the newspaperboy is paying for the paper and awaiting his profit until payment is made. Prompt payment means full profit each week.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
Some time ago I wrote about "Many Kinds of Christians," emphasizing the varieties of religious experience and the forms of faith and practice among those formally professing to be "Christian."

Wartburg Male Chorus Concert at Cole Camp

Wartburg Seminary Male Chorus, Dubuque, Ia., will present a concert of sacred music, on Sunday, March 9, at 8 p.m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Cole Camp.

Under the direction of Kenneth Mesplay, middler, the chorus has 17 concerts scheduled in Iowa, Missouri, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska from March 7 to March 23.

The program will feature traditional, and seasonal numbers and also will include quartette selections.

The public is cordially invited to attend the sacred concert. A free will offering will be received for the chorus at the concert.

Foursquare Church Announces Revival

The Rev. LeRoy Groscheider, pastor of the Foursquare Church, has announced a special Revival service to begin March 10.

The Rev. Dorothy Topper of the Franklin Foursquare Church will be the speaker Monday, Thursday and Friday. The regular pastor will speak the other nights of the week.

The public has been invited to attend these services.

There will be prayer for the sick during every service.

Fundamental Baptist Meets On Greenwood

The Rev. Carl Reh, who recently arrived in Sedalia to form an Independent Fundamental Baptist group to meet at his home, said today the meeting place has been changed to 2510 Greenwood, in the Country Club addition. He will conduct services at 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday.

Show Movie Sunday At Cumberland Church

The film, "Centerville Awakening" will be shown at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church during the evening service Sunday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The film is a portrayal of a true incident in which a foreign missionary, sent home for medical reasons, takes over and conducts a successful revival at a church in Centerville. The Rev. Robert F. Rhodes is the pastor.

I urged a greater measure of mutual trust and recognition on the part of individuals and groups toward others and toward the manifold developments under the Christian name.

An eminent Scotch churchman expressed the belief some time ago that a great need of our times was "good controversy." I think there is much truth in that, especially if the emphasis is upon "good."

The field of religion, and of Christianity, is so vast that differences of viewpoint, attitude and opinion are inevitable in the interpretation of the Bible and the Gospel and their application to life, and the nature and place of the Christian Church.

What is essential in all these differences and their expression is that all who are worthy of the name of "Christian" should not fail in love toward one another. This was the commandment of Jesus to His followers and He denounced those who called Him "Lord, Lord," but did not the things that He said.

Where the commandment of love is neglected, controversy becomes an un-Christian thing, unprofitable, and subversive of the quest of truth that could only be the true purpose of controversy.

I believe that it is possible for those whose religious experiences and opinions differ to hold one another in mutual respect, confidence and love.

For over 30 years, until he died recently, my most intimate friend was an educator and author, a devout Roman Catholic, whose home background, environment, and approach to religion were almost radically different from my Methodist background and later independency.

In our years of association we met almost every week; we spoke
